Captain of Helen P. Drew De-Burglar Uses Sandbag and Judge Fairall's Request That clares Santa Rosa Crew Showed Poor Judgment

Gunderson of the Helen P. Drew.
Gunderson said that it would have been easy to transfer the passengers to his vossel early in the day. The sea was perfectly smooth, he said, and he was sure he could have erceived all of the passengers on his deck. Asked by Captain Bolles whether the officers of the stranded vessel showed good judgment in trying to refloat the steamer with the passengers aboard, the witness replied that he thought not. In his opinion the passengers should have been taken ashore before the attempt was made. Arthur Krause, first mate of the Drew, gave an account of his work in rescuing passengers from the wrecked steamer. Krause was in a boat that capsized. He was rescued by means of a line from the Santa Rosa and took charge of a life raft which landed many of the passengers. The hearing was adjourned until to-morrow afternoon.

DISCUSSES HARBOR PLAN

Shippers Decide to Ask Government for 'Certainly Not,' Answers W. H. Donahue, Re-survey That Basin May Be Dredged to Accommodate Increased Commerce

Congressman Joseph R. Knowland been assured will be in July, 1918, met last night with more than 100 gives us a particularly strong arguof his constituents in the chamber of commerce rooms for the purpose of that Oakland will be one of the great-ernment work in Oakland harbor, including that already provided for and a great amount of dredging and widening of channels that is considing that provides the provided for the great amount of dredging and widening of channels that is considing the provides the provided for the great amount of dredging and widening of channels that is considing the provided for the great provided for the grea tions on the isthmus.

GOVERNMENT APPROPRIATION

Congress has already approved a project calling for an ultimate expenditure of $1,100,000 for the dredging of a 30-foot channel, 500 feet wide from the bay to the tidal basin; a continuance of same 25 feet deep and 300 18-foot channel in the tidal canal known as Oakland creek. For that work $400,000 has already been expended, with the result that the channel has been widened and deepened as far as the Webster street draw bridge. The sense of the meeting last might was that Knowland be instructed to work for the continuance of the project as far as the basin. This, it is deemed, would be sufficient for a considerable period of years; but representatives of large companies having waterfront on the basin felt that the sentatives of large companies having they stating that it was their purwaterfront on the basin felt that the 25-foot channel, 300 feet wide in that lish new service to this port. For section, would prove insufficient, as that reason it is considered that the they already encounter difficulty in channels in the vicinity of the basin getting ships to the wharves in that will have to be increased in size and part of the harbor.

TO ASK NEW SURVEY.

By the time a new act was passed, it was pointed out, the present project would have been completed, or nearly so, and it would then be appropriate time to ask for the additional im provement.

In addressing the company, Congressman Knowland said:

"My idea in calling this meeting was to explain the situation in Oakland harbor and the methods by which Congress must handle the proposition. There will be no general rivers and harbor act at the special session of Congress, but the engineers' specifications are prepared months in specifications are prepared months in advance, so anything we can now do will be of assistance later. Before any project is developed it is necessary to obtain a survey through the government engineers of this district. The engineers' ondorsement goes to the rivers and harbors board, from that to the chief engineer, and, upon his recommendation, to the secretary

I would like to see a sufficient amount would like to see a sufficient amount of money to complete the entire project, but there are other States that have what they consider of as much importance as we do our harbor, and the appropriations must be divided among them. benefit from its expenditurs as from those made here; and nowhere else have the people themselves done so much on their own part as right here in Oakland. They surely are deserving of government aid. "One thing I would like to call your attention to and that is, I have been convinced for the last two years that Oakland does not receive credit for business done in this harbor. We should be able to present facts to Congress and, if necessary, hire some one to keep statistics of the tonnage handled here. Oakland has shown a one to keep statistics of the tonnage handled here. Oakland has shown a disposition to meet the government half way and that fact creates a favorable impression in Congress. The city government has done more than any other city in California and in proportion to any in the country. The committees of Congress look to the present facts, however, and not to future prospects in harbor development, so it is necessary to present to them authentic statistics when a matter of this kind is placed before them."

WILL INCREASE COMMERCE.

It was mentioned incidentally that Colonel Goethals, president of the Panama canal commission, had received numerous communications from steamship companies in regard to tolls through the canal, they stating that it was their numerous in order to accomplish this a new survey will be necessary. In connec-tion with this Secretary Denison of the Chamber of Commerce stated that he had on file 250 applications for in-Congressman Knowland stated that, as it would take practically two years to put through a new survey, including action by Congress allowing the work to proceed and the obtaining of appropriation, he had called those interested together for ascertaining their views so that he could at once get busy at the capital. President H. C. Capwell suggested that the attention of the world was being called to the fact that there were two sides to San Francisco bay, but the people of this city should not overlook the fact that there were two sides to Oakland harbor, particularly that included in the estuary.

"The large firms on the other side should be considered," he said, "and we can afford to be generous."

ALASKA PACKERS' PLANS,

Captain J. F. Moser, representing the Alaska Packers' Association, a corporation which yearly quarters 23 deep sea going vessels in the basin, stated that if the channel leading to the basin was deepened to 30 feet and widened to at least 500, his firm would at once increase their shipping out at once increase their shipping out five minutes or ten minutes at most of this port from 10000 to 12,000 tons a year. The family of the defendant, comprising the aged father and mother, his niece and mother-in-law, were early in arriving and occupied their accustomed seats on the south of the room and with these the accused remained in conference until the case was called.

District Attorney Donahue resumed his seat for cross-examination by Attorney Fairall for the defendant.

He answered counsel by stating that the questions propounded by him in his office to Dalton were not inspired by any desire save to enable Dalton to make any statement that he might desire to make regardless of whether it was a claim of innocence or otherwise. That statement would be used in the case. case.

He could not give the exact time at which the complaint was filed. He came back from dinner and told the defendant that if the latter could get bonds, the witness would immediately file a complaint against him. Later Genring of counsel for the defendant, told him that ball had not been secured and the complaint was filed.

The witness denied that he had said to Dalton that if the latter did not ad-to Dalton that if the latter did not admit that he had received the money he (Dalton) would be sent to jail.

Donahue then showed that Dalton had not been long in his office when an attempt was made to secure an attorney for the defendant. The witness stated that the conversation between him and the defendant did not last more than present development and a resurvey on the part of the government for the purpose of effecting the desired re-sults.

RESOLUTION ADOPTED.

The following resolution, presented by Frank A. Leach, Jr., was unanimously adopted:

Whereas, The river and harbor act of June 25, 1910, provides, in accordance with the plan of improvement printed in House document No. 647, Sixty-first Congress, second session, for a channel 500 feet wide and 30 feet deep from the bay to the tidal basin, 300 feet wide and 25 feet deep around the tidal basin and 18 feet deep in the tidal canal, at an estimated cost of $1,100,000 and $35,000 annually for maintenance; and,

The witness, in answer to intimations that Donahue's zeal was proverbial, said that it made little difference who was accussed. Even if it was the own bother.

The witness donied, after the session of the grand jury which investigated the charges by Blackburn against Dalton, that he had said that Dalton was fortunate that he got away. ASKS FOR ACQUITTAL

Fairall then called Chief Deputy Assessor T. M. Robinson, but before the wit ness took the stand, counsel for the defense made a motion to have the court instruct the jury to acquit the defendant because the testimony did not show that a crime had been committed.

The jury was given a recess and Fair-all proceeded to argue the motion.
He declared that the district attorney had been a party to the plan by which a criminal act had been brought about. The testimony, he asserted, showed, con-clusively, that all the men who had taken part in the transaction had been taken the direction of the district attorney and that the plan had been carried out and that the plan had been carried out by the district attorney. Every one of them was acting on the principle that no bribe was to be given. The representatives of the Spring Valley Water Company were feigned accomplices of a feigned plan to deliver money which was never intended to be given. The district attorney, Fairall asserted, offered only a means to the two representatives of the water company who wished to commit a crime. The man who delivered the money had acted in good faith. He bea crime. The man who delivered the money had acted in good faith. He believed that he was delivering a bribe. Fairall concluded by saying that no crime had been committed and, as a consequence, the jury should be instructed to acquit the accused.

MOTION DENIED.

Judge Brown said he had given the case considerable attention during the examination of the jurors and since testimony had been introduced. His view was, ne said, that facts alleged constituted one transaction. Under the law, it was made a felony to ask a bribe. It was also a felony to accept a bribe and it was also a felony to solicit and receive a bribe. It was the same with respect to forgory. Several different acts relating to that sults.

Mayor Frank K. Motthand Commissioners Baccus and Turner were present at the meeting. Mayor Mott said that the western waterfront, which is being developed by the city without the aid of the government, should carry a great deal of influence with Congress when aid was asked of that body. mon grade among crimes. He felt that the different acts alleged in the case con-stituted a crime. The motion to instruct the company, he said, to have the as-sessment on the riparian rights of the company reduced. He was asked if he had examined the assessment books re-garding the assessment of the rights, but he had not examined them, but he knew was $350,000.

Hynes objected to going into this matter on the ground of immateriality.

Fairall offered to argue as to the admissibility of the evidence and the jury was a second time allowed a recess. The members of the company, declared

Fairall, had entered into conspiracy to ruin Dalton. By misrepresentations, they had enlisted the district attorney in the plan and in the furtherance of it had the pian and in the intrinerance of it has secured that official's active assistance.

"We are," he continued, "entitled to show what they did and why they did it. They are suffering from an assessment which they wanted to have reduced and be relieved from, and we want to show the motive of the company in this case."

ISSUE IN CASE.

The court said that he was not quite sure that that was meeting any issue of the case.

"That assessment," said Hynes, "began in 1903. The testimony for the people is confined to a period of three or four years. The other side is attempting to go four years behind the present man-agement of the company. Some of the present officers have not been connected with the company more than that length of time.

"The issue here is not the ass

"The issue here is not the assessment, but is: Did the defendant ask for and roceive a bribe The motive has nothing to do with it."

The court then called the counsel on both sides into his chambers, where they remained for three-quarters of an hour, when the moon recess until-1:30 o'clock this afternoon was ordered.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

When court convened this afternoon Judge Brown called the attorneys for the defense into council with him in his chambers. The conference came to a close at 1:45 p. m. The attorneys for the people were not invited to attend the conference.

Chief Deputy County Assessor Robinson was temporarily excused and Deputy Assessor Schofield was sworn. When court convened, this after-

The witness said he resided in Berkeley and was a civil engineer. He said he made a diagram and sketch, in the company of several other people, among whom was the defendant.

A. Yes; the discussion upon that occasion was in reference to the same matter.

Q. 1 will ask you to state whether or not on that occasion there were any in-structions given by you or under your direction with reference to what, if any-thing, should be done with reference to Mr. McCutchen?

A. Yes; that was the day that I gave the Instructions.

Q. Now, on April 27, Mr. Donahue, what, if anything, did you do in connection with this matter?

A. On April 27 in my office here I wrote a letter to Mr. McCutchen relative to this matter. After I had written the letter I asked you to make copies of it, which you did.

A. Yes.

Mr. Hynes reads Ex. 15, as follows:

Office of the District Attorney of Alameda county, Oakland. Cal.

Mr. Edward J. McCutchen, Attorney for Spring Valley Water Company, Merchants' Exchange Bidg., S. F.

Dear Sir: I have a letter from President Bourn of the Spring Val.

Dear Sir: I have a letter from President Bourn of the Spring Valley Water Company dated April 14, 1911, and therewith there was enclosed an affidavit showing that County Assessor Dalton of Alameda county boldly attempted to secure a bribe from the Water Company, by asking Mr. Behan of the company for one-half of all the twent that the asking Mr. Benan of the company for one-half of all the taxes that the Water Company would escape paying to Alameda county if he, Dalton, would as assessor cut the Spring Valley assessment in this county two and one-half millions, and Mr. Bourn stated that if I desired to take any action to communicate with yo Since then I have had conversation since then I have had conversations with Mr. Behan, Vice-President Eastman of the Water Company and Mr. Olney of your firm, as well as with yourself, and I am satisfied that Behan's affidavit is the whole reuth.

Permit me to frankly say to you that from an investigation I have just made of Dalton's office by the Grand Jury and after going over the record when Dalton was tried for a felony in this county, in each case, I am satisfied that Dalton has no proport for his path of office and regard for his oath of office, and only escaped because sufficient cor-roborating evidence could not be ob-truth.

Consequently, believing as I do Consequently, believing as I do, that Dalton stands ready to betray the people of Alameda county for money, and that he is ready to accept a bribe, I cannot tell you how much as District Attorney I appreciate upon behalf of the people the stand that the Spring Valley Water Company and your firm as attorneys for the company have taken to the for the company have taken in this Without the co-operation of your company the people are helpless and Dalton will be allowed to con-tinue to stand up other people and corporations just as he attempted to do in this case.

I am strongly of the opinion that this is not Dalton's first attempt.

Therefore, as District Attorney of Alameda county, I now ask you, and thought the officials of the through you the officials of the Spring Valley Water Company to go right ahead with Dalton and to go right ahead with Dalton and to use every means possible to allow Dalton to believe you are earnestly acceding to his demands, have him reduce the assessment as much as you can for this reduction will be evidence, then pay him the bribe, and in behalf of the recope of the county my offer will be the rest.

my office will do the rest.

I think that if the Spring Valley Water Company will proceed along the lines I mapped out yesterday in the presence of yourself, Mr. Olney Jr., Mr. Behan, Vice-President Eastman of the company and Assistant District Attorney Hynes of this county, that we will then have sufficient corroborating evidence to conviol Dalton and thus render the people of this county a splendid service in thus exposing a man so false to his trust. However, Dalton is resourceful, and I would advise that the company depart from the plan outlined by me in any manner that the occasion may Attorney Fairall-What did you mean in your letter by saying that in behalf of the people of the county of Alameda you thanked the Spring Valley Water Company?

District Attorney Donahue—I meant just what the words convey. I have a strong conception in my mind of a public officer doing his duty. I could see no other way upon earth to apprehend this defendant or to prevent him committing similar crimes in similar matters and upon other men. Consequently, when the Spring Valley officials, instead of giving him a bribe, as I believe he had asked for, had come to me and laid the matter in my hands, I believe that, as district attorney, on the part of the people, they were entitled to it. * * *

Judge Fairall-Then you proceeded to lead him into the commission of another offense?

District Attorney Donahue-I never at any time or place led Mr. Dalton into the commission of a crime. I have never proceeded to lead him into the commission of a crime. He committed the crime himself. Every move therefor was an initial move upon the part of Mr. Dalton.

Q. Did you see Mr. Helms come out? A. I did.

Q. Did you subsequently see Mr. Dalton go into Barnum's restaurant?
A. I did.

"Well, you were at Jack's restaurant with Mr. Eastman upon two occasions." He said "Tes." There might have been some other conversation. I asked him I think how much money was there and he said there was $5000, a thousand in each package. I asked him if he had counted it and he said "Yes." We then came to the district atternaries office.

A. Well, the defendant was very pale, and his lips quivered and he had to catch himself several times with his voice. The defendant was very, very much excited, or very narrows.

Q. You came, then, with the defendant to the office of the district attorney, to your office?

A. Then when Detective Hodgkins took the money from the defendant's pocket he handed the money to me. I took the money in my hand. I said to Mr. Dalton, "Henry, what does this mean?" He replied, "what does what mean?" I asked him where he got the money. I am giving you the substance. I can't remember word for word what was said, but I can give it to you in substance, as near as I can remember it. I asked him where he got the money. He said "That is my money and it is none said "That is my money and it is none of your business where I fot it." I or your ousness where I for it. A. I did, or the grand jury did.
Q. You were present?
A. The grand jury did.
Q. You examined the witnesses?
A. Either Mr. Leon A. Clark from my office or myself examined the witnesses.
Q. Having examined the witnesses, you came to the conclusion that the defendant was guilty?

A. I came to the conclusion as many mbers of the grand jury did, after at examination, that Mr. Dalton was t examination, that Mr. Dalton was try.

Yes. You have had that opinion relince?

You had that opinion when this ter came up?

I certainly had that opinion when matter came up. Yes, Judge.

You had that opinion of course, n you wrote these letters to the gy Valley or to Mr. McCutchen?

Yes.

There was a went over it very carefully.

Q. Then you had something else besides the statement of Mr. Hynes?

A. I had the papers in the case. As ment, I had the statement of the statement of the case when the case knew about the case, knew about Mr. Dalton's previous trial, and his previous, to been in the county Mr. Hynes had you.

Yes.

There was a went over it very carefully.

pring Valley or to Mr. McCutchen?

A: Yes:

Q. Then did you examine the reports of another trial in which Mr. Dalton was accused of a felony here?

A. I examined the papers. I might asy this matter was given to me on the 5th. I took no action from the 15th intil the 25th. I went over it with Mr. Iynes, who has been in the district torney's office 12 years, I think, or 3. I went over with him everything hat had taken place so that I might be ertain that no mistake would be made, made an examination of the papers. I aiked with Mr. Hynes about the case, remember a conversation, and other nonversations I have had about the case.

Q. Did you read the testimony?

A. I didn't read the testimony in the ase. I didn't have all the testimony.

Q. Then you took the statement of the Hynes as to what the testimony.

JUDGE THOUGHT DALTON GUILTY.

A. No, sir. I took the statement of Mr. Hynes and the Superior Judge who tried the case. I heard him say that Mr. Dalton was guilty.

Q. Who was that?

A. Judge Ellsworth.

Q. Did you go to him and ask him about it?

It? you go to him at all. When natter was on before the grand the investigation, I heard the Judge that expression. Since that I have him make it more than once. Now, you have stated that here hat purpose?

I have stated It here in answer to question—you asked me. You asked me if I took the state-of Mr. Hynes.
I didn't ask you whether you took tatement of Mr. Hynes, that Mr. was guilty. You have added that. If I added it, I added it because eved I was frankly answering your mustion.

Mr. Fairall. I move to strike that out.

Mr. Hynes. I submit he has answered rankly that question, who was that, when he said the Superior Judge who ried the case. Counsel asked the question: "Who was that." He said: "Judge Ellsworth."

THE WRONG FISH.

Mr. Hynes. If the court please, council may go on fishing expeditions as long, she likes. When he gets his hook into he wrong fish, that is another question. The Court. Let us not have any more of these remarks about this matter. The tatement as to what Judge Ellsworth believed is stricken out, and the jury nstructed to disregard it. Let us have no more discussion.

Mr. Hynes. I asked your Honor in fairness, so I may not be charged with error Instructed to disregard it. Let us have no more discussion.

Mr. Hynes. I asked your Honor in fairness, so I may not be charged with error in arguing this ease, in referring to Mr. Donahue's testimony as to what part is in and what part is out. I am entitled in fairness to know, because I don't want to commit error.

The Court. The part that is out—Judge Fairail, the part I have understood you to ask to be stricken out, is what Judge Ellsworth believed?

Mr. Fairail. Yes.

The Court. That part is stricken out. Mr. Hynes. Pardon me. I understand the answer to the question: "Who was

A. Not at that time. The papers in the case were available.

Q. The testimony was not available.
A. I would not say I had the testimony at that time. So that there may be no mistake, I did have the examination, and cross examination of Mr. Dalton written up, and I went over it very carefully.

Grand Jury anter was presented to them, did this matter was presented to them, did you?

A. I say to you, I might have—I have no recollection of any particular grand juror talking with me. On every matter that is taken up by the Grand Jury there may be some discussion about it.

Q. Weren't you at that time seeking for some evidence to fasten some crime on the defendant?

Mr. Hynes. Which time?

Mr. Fairall. At the time of the Grand Jury investigation and subsequently.

Mr. Hynes. Just a moment; which investigation?

Mr. Fairall. Last fall?

A. No, sir. I was was seeking for evidence for the indictment of anybody. I want every crime—

Q. Just a moment. I don't want an answer about every 'crime. Answer the question.

A. I am answering your question.

O. It has been answered?

FORMED AN OPINION.

Q. Now, from that you formed an opinion, did you as to Mr. Dalton, and then you wrote a letter to the Spring Valley people?

A. Before writing the letter to the Spring Valley people, to Mr. McCutchen rather, I went over the matters very, very carefully, and I did have the opinion that I expressed in that letter.

Q. Then you—is that letter here?

Mr. Hynes. That is Exhibit "B" for identification. It is now in evidence, I believe, No. 15 in evidence.

Mr. Fairall. Q. What was your attitude towards Mr. Dalton after you made this discovery?

A. Which discovery are you speaking of?

I mean in your personal relations

Q. Just a moment. I don't want an answer about every crime. Answer the question.

A. 1 am answering your question.

Q. It has been answered?

A. No, it has not been answered. I was saying that with the exception that in every matter.

Mr. Fairall. I move to strike our "every matter," anything he might say with relation to every matter. We are not trying any but this case.

LOOKED FOR TESTIMONY.

A. I would say no, except that I looked for all the testimony I could find upon this matter.

Q. Now, do you ever take steps to investigate as to wheher or not you could find some evidence of other offenses?

A. Read that please.

(Question read.)

A. I did not.

Q. Haven't you recently done that?

A. I advised the Grand Jury—

Q. Now, I ask you if you did not?

A. I say no. But the Grand Jury of this county has an expert who is examining all the books. This defendant refused to let him have the cash book. I have done nothing about it.

BELIEVED CHARGES TRUE.

Now, after the grand jury investion iast fall, you were confident that Dalton was guilty?

I felt that the charges before the djury were true, but that Skay was uch a position, that I did not believe any jery would convict upon that mony. I think that was the feeling he members of the grand jury.

Fairall. Now, I move to strike out.

Q. Of the indictment of the defendant at that time?

A. Before the grand jury took the matter up I advised them, as I do in every matter.

Q. After they heard the evidence did you give them any advice?

A. After they had heard the evidence, I think that I went over some matters with them, I can not just recall what Judge Ellsworth said he was guilty.

The Court. The winces' statement that Judge Ellsworth said he was guilty.
Mr. Hynes. What about the answer to the question: "Who was that?" He answered: "Judge Ellsworth."
Mr. Fairall. Read that.
The Court. No use reading that over. The part counsel asks to be stricken out.
Air. Hynes. Tunderstand the question: "Who was that?" and the answer: "Judge Ellsworth."
A. I read the sections of the Code. I did not advise them whether or not a crime had been committed?
A. I read the sections of the Code. I did not advise the jury. I read the sections of the Code. I did not advise them.
Q. Did you advise them whether or not a crime had been committed?
A. I read the sections of the Code. I did not advise the jury. I read the sections of the Code-to them.
Q. Did you state what your opinion was, to them?
A. No, sir, I did not. I have no right to have that stricken out.
Mr. Fairall. I ask all that relating to Judge Ellsworth be stricken out.
Mr. Fairall. I haven't asked him to testify what Judge Ellsworth said, or anything of the kind.

Q. Well, they did not indict, did they?

A. They did not.
Q. Did they ask you if it was neccessary to have any further evidence in the way of corroboration?

A. I do not recollect that.

A. I did not.
Q. Their action then, was wholly without reference to anything you might have said to them as to the legal sufficiency of the evidence?

A. Certainly it was.
Q. What was the answer?
The Court. "Certainly it was."

Mr. Fairail. There were not any attorneys in the grand jury except you and your office. No members of the grand jury were lawyers, were they?

A. Read the question please.
(Question read.)

A. Not that I know of.
Q. Well, did they call on you for any advice as to the legal sufficiency of the evidence?

A. Well Judge the grand tury and the grand for the grand they are they?

Q. Well, did they call on you for any advice as to the legal sufficiency of the evidence?

A. Well, Judge, the grand jury never calls for advice. They don't call on me. I read the sections of the Code upon evidence, with reference to the evidence. I read the sections of the Code relative to the law. Then the grand jury acts just the same as this-jury would act.

Q. Did you read to them the sections of the Code on corroboration?

A. There was no necessity for reading the sections of the Code on corroboration.

Q. You say there was no legal evidence. Q. You say there was no legal evidence sufficient to convict?

A. I think that Behan told me that Dalton called him upon the 21st of April.

Q. The only testimony you had of that, the only evidence you had of that was the statement of Mr. Behan himself?

A. And he submitted to me, I believe, a report from his stenographer, in type-writing, together with her longhand notes. I think you will find it there.

Q. Did they state who called up?

A. Well, from the conversation itself, you couldn't tell who called up.

Q. On the previous conversation over the telephone, did Mr. Behan make any representation to you as to who called up at all those times?

A. You said previous?

Q. Previous to the 21st?

A. Yes. He told me that before the 17th Mr. Dalton had called up. Whether there were any other telephones or not I can't remember just now. As I told you, they are all there.

Q. But at the time you went into this you believed that Mr. Dalton was seeking a bribe from the Spring Valley Water Company?

A. Also between the 30th and the 25th, at the time that I made the appointment in Mr. Olney's office.

Mr. Fairall. Did they tell you that Behan had really called Dalton, instead of Dalton calling Behan?

Olney's office in San Francisco. He was the man for me to write to. I asked him to give the letter to Mr. Behan and Mr. Eastman. Mr. McCutchen and Mr. Olney's office.

Q. You knew that if he was convicted he would be removed from office?
A. As a matter of law, I presume that is so.
Q. Did you suspect that they might have an interest in getting him removed from office?
A. I never suspected any such thing.

Q. Did not suspect the Spring Valley of anything of that kind?

A. I did not. This matter was taken up the 26th. I gave it ten or eleven days' careful thought and consideration.

Q. Did you consider the fact that they might also misrepresent the facts to you, and get you into a campaign against a man for the purpose of punishing him?

A. I consider everything that I can think of now, that might arise. Investigated this matter very carefully myself, to know that I was right.

I took into consideration the facts that had come to my knowledge relative to the defendant. I took into consideration all of the facts that had come to my knowledge relative to the defendant. Mr. Hynes. Like what?

Mr. Fairall. Making errors in his books, apparently for the purpose of covering up a crime.

Mr. Hynes. Let us hear the question.

A.: (Continuing.) Practically all my life. I wanted to speak with Mr. Behan, and with Mr. Olney there. That was one reason. The other reason was that this defendant, if he was about to commit a crime, as I, believed he was, if he saw me at the Spring Valley office, he would immediately suspect why I was there.

Q. Now, why didn't you have them ome to you instead of you going to Q. Now, why didn't you have them come to you instead of you going to them?

Mr. Hynes. Objected to.
A. For the very same reason: that if Mr. Dalton stood ready to commit a crime and saw-Mr. Behan coming to my office, he would then know, or have at least reason to think, that Behan was informing me.

Q. Your object then was to convict him, wasn't it?
A. My object was not to convict him, o Q. Well, what'was it?

Q. Then why didn't you proceed, permit him to do that, so it would be finally settled for all time, the question whether he did intend to do it?

reasiman and Mr. Behan to let the defendant go on and reduce the assessment, to obtain corroborative testimony of the demand made on Behan in the office of the assessor. Now, a change is made, and the witness explains that the reason was that the defendant demanded immediate payment, which necessitated that the district attorney should change his tactics, so to speak, with reference to what he should do. Now, the purpose that counsel is evidently aiming at, is this. It was the duty of the district attorney, a crime having been committed, to say to Mr. Eastman or to Mr. Behan: If you refuse to pay the money perhaps the defendant won't carry out the assessment, consequently there will be nothing to act on. I submit when it came to the district attorney's knowledge, to his attention, that a crime had been committed, and he was satisfied had reasonable ground to believe that a crime was committed, that It was his duty to proceed, it doesn't make any difference what his view was as to what the defendant would or would not do under certain conditions. That is if the district attorney was the defendant would reduction of the roils if the money was n the district attorney choight that the defendant would not carry out the reduction of the rolls if the money was not immediately coming to him, it makes no difference. This line of examination has been going on for some lime. It is clearly immaterial.

presented to a jury Mr. Eastman would testify to one state of facts—
Mr. Hynes. You mean Behan?
A. If Mr. Behan should testify to one state of facts, and Mr. Dalton should testify to another state of facts, that a jury might not want to convict upon the testimony of Mr. Behan, unsupported.

ADDITIONAL TESTIMONY.

Q. Then realizing that you felt that there must be some additional testimony, and you made this plan with these people to see what could be done?

A. No. That is not the fact, Judge.
Q. What was the fact?

A. The fact was that belleving that it was my duty to prosecute in any event, that is to lay the matter before the grand jury. Belleving Mr. Behan's statement, I then took the matter up with Mr. Eastman. While there was a plan of action laid out, there was no plan as to what Mr. Dalton should do, the plan was only what Mr. Eastman or Mr. Behan should do. Mr. Dalton was to be left to do as he pleased. I believed that if Mr. Dalton did go into communication with Mr. Eastman and with Mr. Behan, together with other testimony, independent testimony that I intended to have myself for the people, as to his meeting these people, then that there could be sufficient evidence, sufficient corroborative evidence of Behan's testimony.

Mr. Fairall. May 2.
A. When I spoke to you about the telephone a moment ago I spoke about the telephone of April 21. That was intervening, between March 30 and May 2.
Nothing had been done, as I understood it, from March 30 to April 15, when it was reported to me I didn't meet Mr. was reported to me. I didn't meet Mr. Behan until April 25. Upon April 21 Mr. again surried matters by telephoning to Mr. Behan. Mr. Behan meantime had not heard from him.

Q. Did you know, other than the statement of Mr. Behan, that Mr. Dalton had been following this matter up?

A. Yes, I knew that when—I don't know when you refer to. I will not answer until I know what date you refer to. Q. He first stated the matter to you, you got an affidavit?

Mr. Hynes. Let me interrupt him a moment. The testimony shows that on May I, at 11:55. Mr. Dalton called for Mr. Behan, and the conversation was as follows: (Reading from the transcript.)

Mr. Fairall. I was reading from the bottom of page 658. I think I correctly I stated it.

INDEPENDENT EVIDENCE.

A. Also, I wanted to have independent evidence other than Eastman, and other than that of Behan I wanted to have that meeting so that, if possible, I could have a representative of my own there to hear the conversation, and report it

Q. Now, before that meeting was made, or arranged for, you had a defi-nite plan to entrap the defendant, did A. I never at any time made any plan the plan is what the other peoples should do when he did proceed. There never was any trap at any time or place at all. Mr. Dalton was allowed to do what he. Dalton, wanted to do.

Q. You told them to give him the opportunity?

me. There was no scheme about it. Dalton was to be allowed to do as scheme.

A. There was no scheme about it.
Mr. Dalton was to be allowed to do as he wished.

Q. Didn't you agree to do something when you went over to the Spring Valley Water company?

A. No, sir. There was no agreement. I told them as district attorney of Alameda county, certain things that I thought should be done.

I/Q. Didn't they agree to do them?

A. They did what I instructed.

Q. Well, that was an agreement?

A. I don't know as you would call it that.

A. I don't know as you would call it that.
Q. Then you did enter into some kind of an arrangement or agreement about the plan to be pursued, didn't you?
A. Not about a plan to be pursued. I did tell them what I wanted done from time to time, as the defendant made suggestions, I would instruct them.
Q. They told you they would do those things?
A. They did do them.
Q. Didn't they tell you they would?
A. Yes.
Q. Then it was a plan, wasn't it?
Why do you get away from plan, back up whenever I mention plan?

Q. Didn't they tell you they would?
A. Yes.
Q. Then it was a plan, wasn't it?
Why do you get away from plan, back up whenever I mention plan?
A. I am not getting away from plan, and I am not backing up. I am trying to answer you as intelligently as I can.
Q. If I had said conspiracy, I suppose you would be offended?
A. I could not be offended with you on anything. I have heard you too long.

A. Yes.

A. What did you mean by that?

A. I meant by that, if I may be permitted to tell you, from my experience in the Grand Jury. DALTON RESOURCEFUL.

neant just what I said there, jungs, Q. Yes.
A. That he was resourceful. I cannot better explain it.
Q. He was a good witness, you mean?
A. Yes, a. very good witness; a man that was able to give explanations, no matter whether the explanations were right or wrong.
Q. Whether they satisfied your mind right or wrong.

Q. Whether they satisfied your mind or not?

A. Not at all, not whether they satisfied my mind, but whether they were right or whether they were wrong.

Q. You consider a man resourceful that can explain something that you think is criminal?

A. Not at all.

Q. You say in this letter the company might depart from these instructions?

Yes.

Q. Did you mean by that that they could follow their own ideas as to these matters, or what did you mean?

A. I meant by that that in the meetings with Mr. Dalton, if he made certain suggestions, he might make any statement that he might make, something that came up that he had not stated in the last statement when they mot, either Eastman or Behan, they should use their own judgment on that matter.

Q. They were either to make new offers, modified offers, or promises, or anything?

A. That didn't come up at all.

Q. That you were thore for the pose used getting him to make an inclume nating statement against himself.

A. I was there for the purpose of here ing him make any statement he wanted to make. That statement was to be produced in evidence. I believed, however, he would make an incriminating statement, which he did make. DUTY OR OBJECT

Q. And you would use that an in on the trial?

A. Why, most assuredly. That what I am here for, as districted to the C. That was your object?

Q. That was your object?

Q. Was it your duty?

A. Was it your duty?

A. My duty was at the time of this you before, I tell you again, to allow Mr. Delton to make any statement he wanted to make, and that statement would be produced here in court, no macher what the statement was, whether in his favor or against him. He was to be treated absolutely fair, so far as I was concerned.

Q. Now, did you tell him any statement he made would be used against him?

A. Why, it was absolutely unneces sary to tell Dalton that.
Q. Can't you answer the question?
A. I did not.

The vanerable educator told with quivering lips of his request of retirement that he might enjoy at least a brief carthly rest before entering into a rest that would be final; of the granting of his wish by the board of directors at a meeting on July 28, 1909; of his having asked for "some consideration" in the way of financial aid until his property interests could be straightened out and a reasonable income secured.

In 1875, Wilkinson related, all his worldily possessions were destroyed in a freand friends made up a purse of several hundred dollars, which he placed in a bank with which to begin life anew. Since then, he testified, he has received as the principal of the institution, a total of about $100,000, the annual salary being $2000, out of which he has been able to save but little.

A difference of opinion between the attorneys of both sides as to the merits of the expenditure of $2000 annually out of the Durham bequest for three years as a pension for Wilkinson, was the basis of the entire morning's proceedings.

Attorney Reed, who represents the petitioners asking for the dismissal of Prin-cipal Kelth and a change in methods of managing the institution, contended that the code provided that it was the duty of the board of directors t omake regular reports to the State authorities regarding expenditures from the Durham fund, as well as from other trust funds, in their hands.

Director Wigginton Creed, a Berkeley nattorney, who was the only witness on the stand during the morning, with the exception of Wilkinson, testified that the directors were responsible to the people of the state for their management of the Durham and other bequests, but that they did not consider it necessary to consult the governor or other state officials before investing the funds or making expenditures.

Creed reported that the blennial report of Treasurer Griffith of the institution to the state authorities showed the standing of the different funds, includ-

WENT AFTER MESSAGES.

Judge Fred V. Wood of Amador county, sitting in Department 6 of the Superior Court, this afternoon began the trial of Charles Sands on a charge of dynamiting. The work of securing a jury occupied most of the session.

Early last spring J. Cassou, who runs a French bakery, at 811 Clay street, received several and symmous letters in which threats were made that his place would be destroyed by dynamite. On the night of March 28 some person tried to throw a bomb through a window into the sleeping quarters above and in the rear of the bakery, from the adjoining building. The infernal machine fell the ground and exploded, throwing everybody into a panic, but injuring no person.

Sands had been employed by Cassou and was discharged for misconduct. He was arrested and prosecuted on the theory that revenge for his dismissal prompted him to commit the deed, and the evidence introduced at the prisoner's prelimingry hearing by Captains Bolles and Burger above all the wireless messages. Apparently the officers of the Pacific Coast Steamship Company think they are vindicated because all the passengers on board the Santa Rosa were saved. One of the ship's officers and three seamen were lost, but that does not matter—they were merely hired men and their drowning should excite no concern.

But the passengers lost nearly all their personal effects by being hastily sent ashore in a roaring surf after being unnecessarily kept on board for nineteen hours. Why they were not sent ashore earlier when the sea was smooth and landing could have been effected at leisure and without peril or discomfort is a question that has yet to be answered. At 6:30 in the morning the steam schooner Centralia was alongside the Santa Rosa and offered to take the passengers off, but the offer was refused and no attempt was made to land them until 5 o'clock in the evening, when a high sea was running and the ship breaking up. What was the cause of the delay? Why was not the offer of the Centralia's captain accepted? This extract from the testimony of E. M. Morgan, wireless operator aboard the Centralia, will help explain matters:

Morgan testified that he had been called at half past 5 in the morning by the second mate of the Centralia and informed that there was a ship ashore above Point Arguello and to try and com

"I got Point Arguello station first and told them there was a vessel ashore, and then called the Santa Rosa and got her," said Morgan. "I asked what the trouble was, and she replied that they were on the beach. They said 'Go on,' and I told that to Captain Ericsson. He said it must be a mistake and should have been 'Come on,' and he turned the Centralia toward the wreck.

"Some time about noon I got this message, sent to Captain Ericsson of the Centralia. It read: 'How much do you want to take my passengers to San Luis, per head, or lump sum?' It was signed, 'Captain, Santa Rosa.'

"Captain Ericsson replied, 'My company is doing business all the time with the Pacific Coast Steamship Company. Leave it to Growth of the Billboard Nuisance. them to settle it. Is that O. K.?'

Now, if we turn to the statements of J. H. Cooper, assistant to Vice-President and General Manager Higby of the Pacific Coast tion and employed to make the town hideous. Steamship Company, who was in wireless communication with Captain Faria, the situation is put in a clearer light. He explains the failure to send the Santa Rosa's passengers aboard the Centralia in this way:

"The whole thing is a most unfortunate misunderstanding," said Cooper, "and my intentions have been terribly misjudged. Mr Highee and Captain Hibbard were both away when the message was received telling us that the Santa Rosa was on the rocks at Point Arguello, and I was forced to act for them. love, failure to hake a success in her stage career and home sickness are reasons given by the police and friends of Marie Davis, an actress, for her attmept to end her life today by swallowing bichloride of mercury.

Mrs. Nellie Hamilton, who conducts the boarding house and has been a friend and chaperon of the girl, said today that she was the daughter of a planter residing near Memphis, Tenn. Also, that because of her success in amateur theatricals she became "stage struck" and left home.

She went first to New Orleans, where she secured a position with a third-rate stock company. From there she drifted to New York and went "broke."

Then she took jobs in music halls and moving picture shows until she got enough to bring her to Philadelphia. where she hoped for an engagement.

FRIEND OF BUSINESS MAN.

"Yull" had been receiving attention rom a Philadelphia business ing the last few weeks and the gossip of the neighborhood is that she was much in love with him. She would never reveal his name, even to her most intimate friends, although she was often pressed to do so. Last evening "Yull" left the house to keep an appointment, and Mrs. Hamil-ton, who always sat up until the girl came home, waited until early this morning before she returned.

She ran to her rom in the third story and locked the door. Part of Hughes Anti-Betting Bill Rouses the Ire of Senator.

ALBANY, N. Y., July 11.—Stren-nous attempts are being made here to push through the State legislature a modification of the race track bill adopted when Governor Hughes was adopted when Governor Hughes was in power. A new bill, introduced by Senator Gittens, releases members of Senator Gittens, releases members of race track associations from personal liability for betting carried on without their knowledge. It is understood that the bill defining bookmaking is to be abandoned and efforts concentrated on the passage of the Gittons measure.

concentrated on the passage of the Gittons measure.

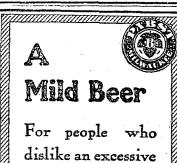

"It is now so late," said Gittens, introducing the bill, "that I have decided to strip the bill of everything except the bare question of whether this legislature is willing to stand for the proposition that any man may be imprisoned without fault on his part. So blue a law never before was ingrafted upon our statutes. It is a crying disgrace to see it there, and it it too bad that the efforts to correct this outrage, simply because it inures to the advantage of raging associations, should be widely characterized as being born of graft and corruplion."

CONTRACTOR IS BURIED WHEN CESSPOOL CAVES

HUNTINGTON PARK, Cal., July 11,—Jos. Boyer, a contractor of this city, is believed to have been killed when the walls of a ceaspool which was being constructed under his supervision caved in upon him. He was inspecting the condition of the ex-cavation, which had progressed to a depth of twenty-seven feet.

Although a rescue party had been at work for several hours, the body had not been recovered at a late hour. There was nothing to indicate that Boyer had not escaped death.

In "Alice Sit-By-The-Fire" Barrie introduces a social satire, in the unraveling in which he is delightfully human. The people of the comedy include a father, a mother, their son, a maniy lad; their daughter, a sweet and impressionable young girl, and a baby, who, while not seen, is ever present.

In a measure Barrie points out the LOS ANGELES, July 11.-Under the incognito of Dr. Van Eck, a prominent member of the Rothschild oil interests in southern California, whose identity has not been disclosed, has been staving at the Hotel Alexandria for some time laying plans to gain control of the gaso line distribution along the Pacific coast.

This is the second bout in the fight between the Rothschilds and the Standard Oil Company for the control of the oil fields of southern California.

The fight started when the Shell Transportation Company, controlled by the Rothschilds, opened an office some months ago in San Francisco, and ob tained options on oil property, through its representatives.
"Dr. Van Eck" left here yesterday for Europe, where on his arrival in London he will submit his proposals to the heads of the Rothschilds companies which he

Dr. Van Eck's bsiness here. It had been rumored that the representative of the Rothschilds had been holding frequent consultations with Stewart for the purpose of obtaining an option on the Union Oil Company. This was denied by Stewart this evening.

"Dr. Van Eck's only reason for seeing me," said Stewart, "was for the purpose of arranging to make up the deficit which exists in the gasoline supply on the coast. There was no question of an option on the Union Oil Company.

"The Standard Oil Company has been "The Standard Oil Company has been compelled for years to depend for its gasoline supply upon the Aslatic Com-pany, which of course, is controlled by the Rothschilds interests.

"Dr. Van Eck has purchased water front property near Seattle and may do so here. He intends to bring in gasoline from Sumatra, and thereby remedy the deficit in the supply on the coast which exists at present."

DROWNS IN CREEK.

STOCKTON, July 11. — Adolph Richter, the 15-year-old son of J. F. Richter, was drowned yesterday afternoon in Little John creek at Farmington, near this city, while fishing. He attempted to cross the creek and stepped into a washout. He is the third member of the Richter family to meet death by drowning, one losing his life while swimming and another in a bathtub.

and in so doing turned out a little play that has earned more praise than anything else he has written. It is perfect in form and its trite, pithy dialogue is the voluminous history of three lives. Not a detail, seemingly, is left out of fourteen years of human experience.

"The Great Divide," William Vaughn Moody's great western drama, is coming to the Macdonough theater Monday, July 17, for a run of one week, with matinees Thursday, Saturday and Sunday. Landers Stevens and Georgia Cooper, who are to open a summer engagement at the Macdonough, will appear in the leading roles.

Rival Bay Teams Will Clash This Week McCarey Secures Battle of Lightweights

SHREWD M'CAREY LANDS WOLGAST-WELSH MATCH

With Tact and Ability Southern Promoter Signs Them for Contest in November

By EDDIE SMITH.

It remained for Uncle Tom McCarey, the Los Angeles promoter of boxing bouts, to pull off the slickest thing in the matchmaking line that has been executed on this coat in many a day yesterday.

With as little talk as possible, secrecy as to his intended action and not the least hint to his northern rivals in the promotion line, Foxy Tom informed Ad Wolgast and Freddie Welsh that they could use his office in the Wilson building for their meetings to discuss the coming match between them.

Owing to the fact that Wolgast had rushed off to Los Angeles just at a time when things were looking bright for a match, and Welsh, in his anxiety for the him south, the men were glad of the offer made by the astute Mr. McCarey, for they were in need of a place to meet.

In a style all his own, Mr. McCarey busied himself with grabbing the match for the Pacific Athletic Club, of which he is the president and matchmaker. With less fuss by far that generally keeps the boyers and promoters were were re-keeps the boxers and promoters wrang-Ing, the promoter brought the boys and their managers together at his office, and before the managers and boxers realized what had happened he had partially drawn from them a promise to battle for the lightweight championship in his arena at Vernon.

Manager Tom Jones, for Ad Wolgast, at first backed and filled a little, and Baron Long, acting for Welsh, wanted to give the wide, wide world a chance to bid for the match. McCarey had soothed the money appe tite of the champion with his offer, how-ever, and Jones was willing to accept.

BIG MONEY FOR WOLGAST.

It is agreed that Wolgast is to get $13.500 for his end of the purse, with a privilege of taking 47½ per cent of the gross gate receipts if that amount runs over the guarantee. Ad is also runs over the guarantee. Ad, is also to get 51 per cent of the moving picture stock. With the champion satisfied, McCarey started after Welsh with a will. The first few offers he made for the Existing party of the control of the co a will. The first few offers he made f the Eritisher were turned down by Basen

Then Tom McCarey sprung the surprise of his career in the promotion line, and in doing so proved once again that he is a man of excellent judgment and well worthy of the confidence the people of the south have in the south have a south have a south have a south have a south have so the south have so the south have a south have a south well worthy of the confidence the peo-ple of the south have in him.

For years it has been a mystery of the northerners how McCarey could hold on in the south as he has, for promoters here have come and gone by the score since he first took hold of the game.

When McCarey had about landed the biggest match in the pugilistic world, and without the least signs of backing down flemanded that all talk of the $10,000 side bet be forgotten and that the bet itself be forgotten, he proved a man of good, sound judgment and a mighty big fellow in the promotion line. The securing of that bet by Wolgast meant at least $4000 to him, as he would have been a big favorite and could have laid off the money and made that much

Wolgast has said that he will not enter the ring until after the Welsh match has been settled, but Welsh maintains the right to take on other mer of his class between now and the days of the contest. Welsh is of the opinion that he can keep himself in good condition the better by meeting a few of the lightweights between now and the Wolgast date, and for reason he will come north.

The promoters here could do a lot worse than match him with one of the lightweight possibilities. Wolgast will go to his home at Cadillac. Mich. a short stay. The betting talk is one of the curses of the modern game of boxing, and we congratulate McCarey on his very good judgment and courage in insisting that the side bet be called off.

Elnora Isbell Declares Husband Had Aversion to Children.

Elnora Isbell has instituted suit in the Superior Court for a divorce from Henry Isbell, alleging among other things that her husband has caused her great mental anguish because he refused to rais tal anguish because he refused to raise a family. His excuse was, the wife says, that children were "too expensive," and more bother than they were worth.

The Isbells reside in Alameda and the wife declares that Isbell has for years enjoyed a good income. Mrs. Isbell also says that Isbell has deserted her for periods ranging from a week to, several months at a time, that he has called her names, which she does not wish to set forth in her complaint, but is willing set forth in her complaint, but is willing to tell the court all about, and that she neither wants allmony nor any of her. husband's property. This Week's Series Will Be Battles for First. Second and Third Position

By BERT LOWRY.

Just before the battles. When we sit down to the family steak tonight the first game of the Oakland-Seals series should be in the won column for one of the teams, and it shall be but the forerunner of what is to come for the fans who pin their faith in the success of Harry Wolverton and his braves or J. Cal Ewing's Hopefuls.

Last week was one of disaster for both the Oaks and the Seals. It is history now how the Angels went tearlng after our boys in the southland and it is history how the Hooligans made the Seals look like Class Z leaguers on five occasions.

This state of affairs brought gloom to all of us, for semenow if Oakland should fail to land the pennant many of us would be glad to see San Francisco gather.

THINGS ARE DIFFERENT NOW. All that gloom has vanished now

All that gloom has vanished now and with the battle of today the old-time rivalry comes and factions will be divided, one for the Oaks, and one for the Seals.

But half a game, less than that, separated the two teams this morning and nightfall shall see Oakland back in third place or fourth good and strong, according to how the wind blows.

As to who will do the limit of the control of the wind blows. As to who will do the hurling in

As to who will do the nuring in the opening game remains to be seen, but Harry Suter is the choice of the Seals' boss while Tyler Christian should work for the Oaks. As Tyler can pitch rings around Andsome 'Arry we 'uns should gather. Little change will be made in the line-un of the two teams. Moskiman, line-up of the two teams. Moskiman, he with the immaculate uniform, will he with the immaculate uniform, will hold Tennant's job at first base for the Ewingites, while Big John Teide-man will gather at first base for the Wolverton tribe, Otherwise everything will be as it was last week excepting the batteries.

A glance over the standings of the Coast League teams shows the race to be they are the pennant winners.

Between Oakland and Portland the fourth and first club in the race, there are but three and one-half games' difference and there is upt to be a mighty was the playing of the Angels in the south. Against the formidable Oaks they scored five victories out of eight games played. True, unfortunate boots helped Oakland lose a couple of those games, but at that one must hand it to the Angels for the class of ball they are playing.

Richard S. Ryan, the alleged promoter; and a large number of land-office clerks.

Washington is waiting with much interest for the story which will be told tomorrow before the House committee on expenditures in the interior department by Miss M. F. Abbott, who claims to have copied from the files of the interior department a letter from Richard S. Ryan to the then secretary, Richard A. Ballinger, showing that Ryan sought the aid of Chas.

P. Taft in securing President Taft's approval of the opening of the water-front on Controller bay, Alaska.

Up to this time Miss Abbott appears to have been the only person to have seen the mysterious letter.

Secretary Fisher has said that a thorough search of the department files failed to reveal such a letter. President Taft stated that he had never talked with his brother about Ryan or Controller bay. Ashmun Brown, former secretary to Ballinger, from whom Miss Abbott claims to have secured the letter, has denied any knowledge of it.

According to published accounts Miss Abbott will testify that she found attached to a typewritten letter from R. S. Ryan to Ballinger dated June 13, 1910, this note or transcript:

I told him, according to our agree-ment, that I represented myself. But that did not seem to satisfy him. So I sent for Charles P. Taft and asked him to tell his brother who it was I represented. Great Northern Railroad Pays Chamber of Commerce to Fol-Funeral Expenses of the Beck Family.

It has cost the Great Northern Railroad Company the insignificant sum of $1000 for the death of George L. Beck of Livermore, Ella Beck, his wife, and their three children—Harriet (aged 6), Erma (aged 4) and Leonard (aged 2)—all of whom were killed in a train wreck that occurred in the State of Washington about March 1, 1910. This fact was brought to light this forenoon when Judge Fred V. Wood of Amador county, sitting in the probate department of the Superior Court, made an order authorizing John Beck, brother of George L. Beck and administrator of his estate, to accept this sum in full settlement of the funeral expenses and all others claims against the railway corporation.

The accident in which the Beck family were exterminated was caused by a snow-silde. The train they were on was stelled.

The accident in which the Beck family were exterminated was caused by a snow-slide. The train they were on was stalled in a canyon during a blizzard and was reduced almost to a total wreck by an avalanche of snow that swept down from the mountains above, derailing and burning the coaches. It was this element of the wreck that relieved the Great Northern from any legal responsibility for the death of the family.

TOKIO, July 11. — A revision of the Anglo-Japanese alliance is regarded as the inevitable outcome of the Anglo-American arbitration treaty. There is reason to believe that the negotiations for such a revision have been going on for several weeks. It is reported that great Britain proposed to modify the clause providing for mutual assistance in the event of war, making the provision inapplicable in the event that either party to the alliance is fighting a nation with whom the other has concluded a general arbitration treaty.

It is declared that Japan has agreed to this proposition and the Associated Press is informed that the readiness of the Japanese government to accept the suggestion was due to its entire confidence that Japan would never be at war with either the United States or England. The revision probably would involve the extension of the term of the treaty alliance for 15 or 20 years.

Mrrs. Emma Rumball Must The Police Believe They Have Rounded Up Organized Gang of Thieves.

19

A roundup of what is believed by the police to be an organized gang of thieves and forgers was effected by Inspectors Kyle and H. E. E. Green yesterday in the arrest of three former convicts, Charles Chigigne, Charles Kingston and Charles Burnham. The three are in the city prison held in detinue pending an investigation by the police.

According to the police all have been engaged in thievery and forgery for the last three or four weeks in Oakland, although definite infractions of the law have not been placed against them. It is alleged that Chi-gigne issued a number of bad checks signed with the forged signature of W. P. Burrows, president of the Wal-W. P. Burrows, president of the Walnut Grove Creamery Company, for amounts ranging from $25 to $40. The checks were drawn on the First National Bank and were apparently issued in payment of claims against the company. They were accepted by several grocery firms, the forgerles not being detected until the checks were examined at the bank. Chigigne is 40 years of age and has served two terms in San Quentin.

Burnham and Kingston have each served terms in San Quentin and have lately been associated with Chigigne. They are alleged to have stolen 80 sacks of cement from the Ransome-sacks of cement from the Ransome-Crummey Company. Kingston, who is out of the penitentlary on parole, will probably be returned to San Quentin, and Burnham will be tried on a petty larceny charge.

ROCHESTER GIVES ROYAL GREETING TO SHRINERS

Thousands of Lodgemen Throng Convention City, Hotels Are Filled and Dwellings Taxed to Capacity

ROCHESTER, N. Y., July 11.—With the Shriners present from all parts of the United States, Canada, the Hawaiian Islands and even from the Philippines, the thirty-seventh annual session of the Imperial Council Ancient Order of Nobles of the Mystic Shrine, assembled in Convention Hall here today.

The doors were thrown open to the public and Imperial Potentate Fred A. Hines of Los Angeles, Cal., called the council to order. Welcoming speeches were made by Mayor Egarton and local Shriners on behalf of the city and on behalf of the state by Lieutenant Gov-

The rivalry for the honor of entertaining the next convention is exceedingly warm. Baltimore and Los Angeles have entered the lists, with Portland, Ore., a dark horse. San Francisco also wants the next imperial council.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., July 11.—When Rochester awoke this morning it found itself the host of the livellest and biggest bunch of good fellows that has ever assembled in any city of the East. The occasion was the Imperial Council of the Mystic Shrine, which meets in this city all this week. Shriners have been arriving by thousands since Saturday. Every hotel is filled; dwellings have been pressed into service; the railroad yards are filled with special trains of Pulman coaches; the city parks are made into camping grounds for the visitors and every town within a radius of thirty miles camping grounds for the visitors and every town within a radius of thirty miles its filled to overflowing with the Shriners.

Never in the East has there been a convention that will equal this. Only the Mardi Gras, or the Los Angeles flower carnival, can compare with the scenes of lavish display here this week. In the first place, the Chamber of Commerce of Rochester has donated $10,000 for illuminations. The members of Damascus Shrine have duplicated this amount. The electrical display for brilliance and uniqueness has never been llance and uniqueness has never been equalled in this country. For four months electrical experts have been busy with the designs.

BIRTHPLACE OF SHRINE.

Brochester is the birthplace of the Shrine and George A. Leder, the father of the order, is on hand to welcome all Shriners. Damescus Temple has arranged for a week of entertainment that will not leave a moment of leisure. The entire fleet of the Rochester Yacht Club is at the disposal of the Shriners and their wives; hundreds of automobiles are free to the visitors and every saddle horse in Rochester and vicinity has been engaged for the big parade.

The Shriners from Los Angeles, Cal., will appear in the parade on 100 coal black horses; one of the Texas Temples will be mounted on callce-colored bronchos, and the Memphis, Tenn., Temple will have a herd of camels to carry them over the line of march. Hundreds of Canadian Shriners are here. The entire party came from Toronto by boats. These Canadian nobles have pitched their tents in Maplewood Park. There they are camping in true outdoor luxury.
